

Postcard Menu Combinations: Tranche #2

A collection of seventy-two (72) cruise ship or ocean liner menu and postcard combinations; perforated or folded for easy detachment amassed over a forty-year period. A scarce commodity in the original state, most are found as either the menu only or a post card with the ship's name and date printed across the top of a postcard. The majority are from the early 1900s corresponding to the popularity of the somewhat newly introduced post card and produced by Red Star Line, German Lloyd, Cunard, Anchor Line, White Star, NYK, and Allan Lines. Red Star Line and NYK Line also produced these again in the late 1920s and early 1930s. Items 78 and 79 in this group depict variations on this approach: the menu folds up and makes a letter format with space for a message on two of the three panels. Additionally, this grouping includes eight standard menus (76 numbered series; gilt-edged cards), exemplifying the sequence of offering during a single voyage in combination with some of the Anchor Line menu/postcard items.

NB: Mitagessen is translated as 'dinner' in PM (25); indexed here as 'lunch'.

PM (52) and PM (54) are duplicates; PM (53) is the same menu (Chojo Maru, lunch, 18 July 1935) on a different blank. All three appear to be printed from the same master.

Anchor Line postcard menus (PM 69-75) include a note directing passengers' attention to the detachable postcard.
