Find data and statistics

www.bodleian.ox.ac.uk/collections-and-resources

The screenshot shows the Bodleian Data Service website. The header is dark grey with the Bodleian Libraries logo and navigation links: Libraries, Collections and resources (active), Services, Ask and support, Join, and About. A search bar is on the right. The main content area has a breadcrumb trail: Home > Collections and resources > Bodleian Data Service. On the left is a sidebar menu with categories like SOLO, Books, journals, databases, Reading lists, Exam Paper Archive, Subject and research guides, Special collections, and Bodleian Data Service (selected). Under Bodleian Data Service, there are links to About the Bodleian Data Service, Finding data and statistics, Accessing and using data, Text and data mining, Training and support, Theses and dissertations, Legal deposit, and Recommend a purchase. The main content area features the title 'Bodleian Data Service' followed by a description: 'The Bodleian Data Service provides a range of services for researchers and students at the University of Oxford who need to make secondary use of statistics and data.' Below this, it states: 'For the academic year 24/25 there is a new data access service supporting researchers undertaking Text and Data Mining (TDM), with the aim of removing barriers and providing an easy-to-access pathway.' At the bottom, there are five green buttons with white text and right-pointing arrows: 'Finding data and statistics', 'Accessing and using data', 'Text and data mining', 'Training and support', and 'About the Bodleian Data Service'.
