Purpose of this guide

This guide is intended for students and researchers at the University of Oxford seeking support in Refugee and Forced Migration Studies, although students and researchers from any field may find it useful. Use this guide to find out about printed and online resources, including ebooks, ejournals, working papers and reports, news sources and archives for Refugee and Forced Migration Studies.

Finding books for refugee and forced migration studies

Oxford has a wide range of ebooks and printed books for refugee and forced migration studies, including the main collection in the Social Science Library. For more detailed info about our book collections visit our books page of this guide.

- SOLO
Search SOLO, the University's resource discovery tool, for print and ebooks at Oxford. You can search by author, title or subject and limit to a specific library or online resources.
- SOLO user guide
If you need help with SOLO, take a look at this guide for tips on searching, managing results and using your SOLO account.

Key journals & working papers

The Journals and working papers page of this guide presents subscription collections and portals, which offer access to full-text periodicals and industry reports; it also provides information on working and research papers, a valuable source of speeding up dissemination and providing access to early stage research in refugee and forced migration studies.

Below are a few of the top journals for refugee and forced migration studies but you can find a longer list on the Journals and working papers page of this guide.

iSkills Workshops for Postgraduates

The screenshot shows the Bodleian Libraries website header with navigation links: Libraries, Collections and resources, Services, Ask and support, Join, and About. The breadcrumb trail is: Home > Ask and support > iSkills workshops. On the left, a sidebar titled 'Ask a librarian' includes a 'Workshops' dropdown menu with options: Reference management handouts and videos, Open scholarship handouts and videos, Medical Sciences and OUH Trust handouts and videos, Finding scholarly materials handouts and videos, Getting started guides, How to guides, and Subject librarians. The main content area is titled 'iSkills workshops' and describes the workshops as developing skills in information discovery and scholarly communications for University of Oxford students and staff. It lists topics covered: Information discovery, reference management (Endnote, RefWorks, Zotero, Mendeley), keeping up to date with research, measuring research impact, understanding copyright, open access publishing, and managing research data. A 'Find a workshop' section mentions that workshops run throughout the term and that a Single Sign-On (SSO) is required to book a course.

iSkills workshops

The Bodleian iSkills workshops develop your skills in information discovery and scholarly communications, covering a variety of resources across a wide range of disciplines. They are primarily aimed at University of Oxford students and staff and, for particular workshops, Oxford University Hospitals (OUH) staff.

Our workshops cover:

- Information discovery and searching for scholarly materials
- Endnote, RefWorks, Zotero and Mendeley for managing references and formatting footnotes and bibliographies
- Keeping up to date with new research
- Measuring research impact
- Understanding copyright and looking after your intellectual property
- Open Access publishing and complying with funder mandates for open access
- Managing your research data
